

DISINHERITED SON WANTS SHARE OF EINSTEIN RICHES

Young Diplomat Cut Off Because He Married Woman Older Than He.

LETTERS ARE READ.

Show That the Family Did Not Forgive Son for His Marriage.

The family closet of the Einsteins was opened a crack to-day in the Supreme Court, and the unbecoming public had a look at the facts behind the suit which is now engaging Sir Charles and Lady Waldstein, of England; Mrs. Joel Elias Spingarn, wife of Prof. Spingarn, formerly of Columbia; Lady Waldstein's sister, and her brother, Lewis Einstein, former First Secretary of the American Embassy at Constantinople under John G. A. Leishman.

Lewis Einstein, say the lawyers, married a woman ten or twelve years older than himself. She had been married twice before and was a member of a widely known Continental family. His father disinherited him because he married a woman so old.

Late yesterday and to-day some real light was shed on the mysterious matters actuating the present suit to construct a will. Ex-Judge David Leven-tritt, who represents one faction in the suit to find out what should be done with a $150,000 slice of the fortune of the late David Lewis Einstein, a millionaire New York manufacturer and father of the present litigants, read passionate letters that passed between Louis Einstein, the son, and David Einstein the father, or between Lewis and his sister, Lady Waldstein. Lady Waldstein, by the way, was formerly Mrs. Theodora Sellsman of New York.

The letters revealed that in 1900, when he was less than twenty-eight years old, Lewis Einstein married in London Helene Rait, said to have been a noted beauty, but several years his senior.
At various times the father writes:
"Your dear mother is prostrated with grief over the degradation you have brought upon yourself. I have changed my will and you will not participate in my fortune on my death. If you will dissolve your marriage with Helene you will be received back into the arms of your broken hearted father and mother and will have what you should have, share and share with your sister.
Helene will never be received by your mother and sister. It is impossible." But Lewis Einstein refused to give up his wife. He is still abroad with her and declines to have any connection with the suit.

Late in the case appears a series of letters between Lewis Einstein and Lady Waldstein. The letters talk frankly about the third interest in the father's estate, which the son, apparently, is asking for. He pleads with his sister in such terms as, "I thought there were considerations superior to the law.
I believed I was appealing to your old love for me and to a sense which needs no legal interpretation." Lady Waldstein answered with a demand that further communications about money be sent to her attorneys.
Judge Leventritt hopes to establish that David L. Einstein left the third of his fortune to his eldest daughter with the verbal understanding that it was intended for the disinherited son.

FILED A FAKE CLAIM.

Manufacturing Tobaccoist Pleads Guilty to Defrauding Insurance Companies.

John S. Muller Jr., President of the Tarrantous Company, manufacturing to-baccoists at No. 313 Pearl street, pleaded guilty before Judge Rosalaky in General Sessions to-day to a charge of making a false statement to the Home and the London, Liverpool & Globe fire insurance companies regarding a fire which destroyed his business May 9.
Muller said that poor business and outstanding debts forced him to remove his stock and load his plant with cheap refuse prior to the fire. He put in a claim for $2,000.
It is interesting to the District Attorney's office that a few days before the fire Muller made over a quarter of interest in his business to Bruno Rothenberg, who is now in Sing Sing for having caused the incendiary blaze in the New York Picture Frame Company in Fulton street.

FAKE "ADS" LEAD TO PRISON.

O'Donnell Sent to Penitentiary for Using Mails to Defraud.

Advertisements promising "tremendous profits" for a "live partner" willing to toss $1,000 into the scheme paved the way to prison for John J. O'Donnell, indicted for using the mails to defraud. Judge Hunt in the United States District Court to-day sentenced him to the Federal Prison in Atlanta for one year and eight months and fined him $1.

The case, prepared by Assistant United States District Attorney Harold Content, showed that O'Donnell operated an alleged importing and general merchandise business at No. 1474 Broadway. His practice, it was charged, was to publish advertisements inviting participation in his profits. The Government was prepared to prove his claims were fraudulent.

It's the "H-O" taste and convenience that make the "H-O" habit. The difference between H-O and other oatmeal, or rolled oats, is in the way it's made.

The advantage to you is in the fact that we do most of the cooking, so that 20 minutes on your stove is all that is needed to give you a
